

A photograph of a jewelry set, specifically a 'Pandal' (a traditional Indian necklace). The set is made of silver and features large, pear-shaped, light green stones (likely emeralds or similar) set in a halo of small, clear diamonds. The necklace chain is silver with small, round, light green beads interspersed with silver links. The earrings are also silver with a similar design to the necklace pendants. The jewelry is displayed on a light-colored, textured fabric background, with a red flower visible on the right side. A small, circular logo with a stylized 'S' is visible on the necklace chain.
